DISSEMINATION

The RRTCDD Clearinghouse disseminates its research findings, and translates them into publications and products that have practical applications for our stakeholders. The Clearinghouse is a depository for other research and publications in the field. Online resources, including websites, electronic newsletters, social media, webinars, and a listserv, highlight RRTCDD research findings, activities, and new products. Visit www.RRTCDD.org website.

The RRTCDD is a national resource for researchers, people with I/DD, their families, service providers, policy makers, advocacy groups, students, and the general community.
